The TITLE is clear and it is adequate to the content of the article.

it is necessary to reformulate the title, example: Evaluation of the efficacy of a bio-fungicide based on Lecanicillium lecanii (Zimmerm) on cercosporioses of peanut (Arachis hypogaea L.) in real environment.

The ABSTRACT clearly presents objects, methods, and results.

No ..

I propose this plan: to give the objective of the study, to describe briefly the experimental device, material (biological, plant), the results reached. Finally, give the scope of the study

There are a few grammatical errors and spelling mistakes in this article.

There are a few errors that can be quickly corrected by the author by proofreading the article

The study METHODS are explained clearly.

The plant and fungal material should be briefly described without too much elaboration or make a descriptive table summarizing the characteristics of the material used.

The body of the paper is clear and does not contain errors.

See my corrections in the article

The CONCLUSION or summary is accurate and supported by the content.

The conclusion should follow the following outline: objective of the study, relevant results and their uses, and perspectives if necessary. to be reviewed by the author and taking into account my remarks in the article.

The list of REFERENCES is comprehensive and appropriate.

after having taken into account my suggestions, verified that the authors quoted in the manuscript appear in the reference list
