Questions	Rating Result [Poor] 1-5 [Excellent]
1. The title is clear and it is adequate to the content of the article.	3
The article is focused solely on the situation in the Republic of North Macedonia, so it is recommended to change the title of the article so that the content is clearer for readers. The current title is able to induce expectations of a more comprehensive or comparative study on the topic.
2. The abstract clearly presents objects, methods and results.	4

The abstract is rather a logical summary of the content of the article. The methods are not elaborated in the abstract neither anywhere else in the article. Apparently, the description and analysis are mainly used as methods. The results presented in the conclusion in the paper are not much different from information mentioned right at the outset as a starting point of research.
3. There are few grammatical errors and spelling mistakes in this article.	5
The article is written in correct and well understandable English. However, additional proofreading is recommended, there are some spelling mistakes, not numerous, as well as repeating the same words.
4. The study methods are explained clearly.	3
Same as Question 2. - The methods are not elaborated in the abstract neither anywhere else in the article. Apparently, the description and analysis are mainly used as methods.
5. The body of the paper is clear and does not contain errors.	5
The article is completely clear and does not contain any errors (except some few spelling mistakes).
6. The conclusions or summary are accurate and supported by the content.	5
The conclusion is only descriptive and it summarizes the main findings stated at the beginning and in the main part of the article. These findings are expressed accurately and are firmly supported by presented citations and paraphrases of the legislative texts and specialized reports.
7. The references are comprehensive and appropriate.	5
The author uses a wide array of sources, both academic writings and reports elaborated by specialized international organizations. The references are accurate, they contain also the exact page or pages which increases reliability and enables the reader to consult original sources.

Comments and Suggestions to the Author(s):

The reviewed article covers a very interesting, recent and also specialized topic that is being frequently discussed by human rights experts and touches everyday life of all of us as active citizens. The article features logical structure, deep knowledge of the author and reliable sources. However, the weakness of the article is its prevalent descriptive style. The majority of the paper is devoted to the description of the domestic electoral law and relevant international documents. The conclusions of the article do not go beyond the summary of previously mentioned facts. It is recommended to improve the added value of the content for future readers. There are several ways to apply further research:

- e.g. to elaborate some concrete recommendations how to amend the legislation currently in force
- e.g. to prepare a comparative study embracing other country/-ies in the region
- e.g. to rewrite the part “Relevant legal framework” in such a way that is not describing national and international sources separately but is discussing the same questions concurrently with reference to both types of legal sources, it would enable the author to evaluate the level of compatibility of the Macedonian legal order with international commitments
